International Journal of Creative Multimedia

The International Journal of Creative Multimedia (IJCM) seeks scholarly work that explores the intersection of multimedia technology with creative content and research. We are interested in contributions that take advantage of the affordances of digital platforms in creative ways. The disciplines involved in creative multimedia reflect the current trend in research and industry.

Register

The aim of this journal is to showcase current research in multimedia and other creative domains where knowledge of rapidly evolving digital media and its growth towards our lifestyle can be shared. The concept surrounding the theme of this journal is that, our lifestyle is strongly influenced by the myriad of digital applications from media aesthetics to photography, from entertainment to education through means of social media, digital media and others.
